Unitec design & contemporary arts grad (2019), Oliver Cain, is profiled by Auckland's Föenander Galleries as one of its new artists. His work covers a broad range of topics and is made from many different materials. His early works are highly floral which influenced later work upon moving to New Zealand from the UK. Oliver has work held in The Wallace Arts Trust Collection; won the Eden Arts Art School

Award 2019; won both the Tuatara Ceramic Award, as well as the Overall Supreme Award in the ECC NZ Student Design and Craft Awards 2019 and has had work in Sculpture Onshore 2018. Read more here.

Unitec acting grad (2014) Irasa Teofilo Siave is the voice of the wonderful young fiction book 'Dawn Raids' by Pauline (Vaeluaga) Smith, produced by Audio Books NZ. The time of the Dawn Raids (1970s) in New Zealand is beautifully told though the diary entries of 13 year old Sofia, whose main concern is getting herself a pair of white go-go boots... or so she thinks.
